Principal Report

This week we are pleased to welcome Year 10 students back after Work Experience. It is often a defining moment for students. For some, there is the reinforcement that the career they always imagined for themselves is indeed the one they would like to pursue. For others, there is the discovery that the job is not at all as they envisioned and definitely not for them. For all, there is the pride in having navigated the challenges of a new setting, interacting with colleagues instead of classmates and learning a range of new skills. Deciding the course or career they wish to pursue after school is a great motivator for students, helping them to connect their learning now to a purpose into the future. While the goals of the Work Experience are far broader than this, it is a valuable and significant step in helping students think with focus and enthusiasm about their pathway beyond school.

This year Brunswick Secondary College was fortunate to host the following students for Work Experience. Thank you to:

- Melanie Kyrannis for her assistance in Food classes, and the perfectly cooked pastries she made for morning tea on the last day.
- Nikhil Sharma for assisting so conscientiously in the office.
- Quetzal Rodriguez Burge for supporting Music staff throughout the week including on the very busy Rock the Schools day.
- Zihao Fu for being an extra pair of hands in our busy library.
- Ngatokoa Tangakatino for his dedicated work within the Sport Department and an area of the school that is important to all, maintenance and buildings and grounds.

Professor David Hopkins Visit

Last week Professor David Hopkins, a UK academic who has served as a critical friend to the Northern Metropolitan Region for the past four years, met with our Heads of Learning and Coordinators of VCAL and SEALP to outline the NMR Powerful Learning strategy and the Region’s priorities for continued improvement in student achievement. Staff participated actively and enjoyed the session. I attended as an observer, rather than participant, enjoying above all the opportunity to listen to our staff reflect on the work of learning teams, the challenges and achievements involved in leading in their curriculum area and the strong connection between NMR directions and our school goal of ensuring that students of all levels make or exceed expected practice. Each person who attended received a copy of the book the NMR Powerful Learning book, co-written by Regional Director Wayne Craig, Professor Hopkins and Dr John Munro.

Careers activities update

The month of May happens to host National Career Development Week and it has been a very busy month for career development activities at Brunswick Secondary College.

Year 10 – Work Experience

Finally May culminated with the long awaited Year 10 Work Experience Week from May 23rd to Friday 27th May. This was an opportunity for students to experience working life, which, for most students, was an eye-opening and rewarding experience. The students gained a variety of knowledge and new skills which they can put on their resume particularly in relation to communication skills as well as technical skills like how to use a photocopier, using hand tools, sorting through a filing system or making appointment bookings. Many students also now may have a focus for their future whilst others may have decided what they don’t want to do. Feedback from employers was very positive with many telling the visiting teachers how easily the students fitted into the workplace and getting along with everyone and working hard. A special mention to Hanna Hamka who worked in an aged care facility and “demonstrated a maturity and rapport with patients beyond her years”. Thank you to all the teachers who took the time to contact students during this exciting week but most of all, thank you to the students who should be very proud of their successful work experience week.

Here we share some of their comments and photos:

"My placement was with a research lab situated in the Royal Melbourne Hospital and they were studying the effects of seizures and epilepsy. During my week there, I observed surgeries, analysed data, attended lab meetings and helped with general lab chores. The experience was amazing and extremely interesting and I thoroughly enjoyed the whole time." Emma Forder

"I worked as a physiotherapist and had the opportunity of observing physios in action and also discussing the injuries with the patients." Rory Smyth

"I completed work experience at the Salvation Army. I found this experience insightful and inspiring as I discovered what the Salvation Army really does to help people. I really felt like one of the team. I also learnt a variety of admin skills including binding, filing, shredding and laminating." Mia Lickliter

"I had a wonderful time working at a pharmacy. The staff were really friendly and made me feel very comfortable. The first day I was nervous but I got used to the routine quickly and I found myself enjoying conversing with the customers." Joyful Phiri

"During the week I worked at a police station and I loved every moment of it. From answering the phone to being in the car, it was an amazing experience I will never forget." Geordi Ryan

"For the five days of work experience I worked in retail which I hated because tagging items isn’t that fun. From this experience I have learnt that I don’t want to work in retail in the future." Nick Manley
"I worked in a bakery in Sunshine which is an hour away from my house. Although it’s far away it was quite worth it. Packaging bread had many rules and I actually learnt something. It was also nice to see some customers being nice and patient as I was new and slow at serving.” Claudette Cacalda

"I worked at a fitness centre in the city. It was fun travelling in the city and every morning the café downstairs gives you free coffee. Everyday there was always something to do like train and talk. I learnt about selling memberships, fitness co-ordination, personal training, managers and receptionists. Lunch breaks were really good because there is a wide range of food on Lonsdale Street.” William Zaghis

"I worked in a real estate office and helped out with organizing and filing and then photocopying and printing documents. To be a real estate agent, you must be prepared to work overtime, take and make phone calls and make sure you are on an unlimited plan with your mobile phone provider. You need to be a good listener, a people person, approachable and have good negotiation skills. I like the fact that you have your own office. It was a great experience and I don’t regret it.” Jun Demir

"I did work experience at a ballet school. On my first day I went to the Victorian College of the Arts to see a contemporary class being taught and was introduced to teachers of the college (including someone that taught at Brunswick for a short time). Back at the ballet school I did research tasks, administration and worked in the costume department. Teaching children aged 2-5 was not always fun. On Friday I did a pilates class.” Sade Brown

"For work experience, I went to a primary school. I worked mainly with a grade 1 class but also with the preps for art. I observed how the teacher taught the grade and listened to how she dealt with with the children. I did some office work like filing and photocopying but spent most of my time helping the children where they needed it. I was sad by the end as I didn’t want to leave. I got to know the kids and found that all of them were bright and kind. I wish I could have stayed there another week as it was the most fun week of my life.” Caitlin Potter

"I worked in furniture making and learnt how to sand, clean and use the machines. I enjoyed the people there and the food. I would like to do more worksite stuff because I don’t like going to the same place everyday.” Chris Skapetis

"It was a great choice to work at the taxation office because I was sent to a different area of the tax office each day. This work experience has opened many new job opportunities for me as I now know that the tax office is not all about tax.” Christos Milas

"I enjoyed my work experience because I like the people that I worked with. They taught me how to use the tools and measurements. I chose carpentry because I want to do a trade.” Louis Taylor

"Working at the kinder was a great experience. I really enjoyed working with the kids.” Laura Phillips
Year 11 – AGE VCE Careers Expo excursion

Friday May 6th saw the Year 11 students head out to Caulfield Racecourse to attend the Age VCE Careers Expo. This was a terrific opportunity for students to speak with a variety of universities and private institutions as well as many career organisations about courses, qualifications and skills required for various industries. Students loaded themselves up with course brochures and career information as well as VCE study guides and other helpful resources to get them through their VCE.

“The Expo was helpful because of the opportunity to talk to different universities and get information. I already do this but it was a good experience and I enjoyed it.” Dilan Uysal

“The careers expo was good, there was a lot of material available for collection, on courses, universities and even things to do/consider during a gap year. There was something for everyone, especially those of us still so undecided on what to do after BSC. It would have been better if there had been more careers being advertised rather than universities, there was the odd police officer or St John’s Ambulance volunteer, but no real opportunity for Q & A with people in professions that we too are considering.” Mikaela Constable

Year 12 – Tertiary Information Service excursion

Monday May 9th, it was the Year 12 students turn to venture out to RMIT (City campus) where they attended a TIS event organised by the universities. This event is hosted by RMIT and provides vital information to Year 12 students relating to applying for courses at university via the VTAC (Victorian Tertiary Admission Centre) process as well as scholarship and SEAS (Special Entry Access Scheme) application information. All the major universities were represented along with some private institutions as well and students were able to browse each stall, ask questions of the uni reps and gather course guides and brochures relevant to their interests. Decision time is coming and Term 3 will see our Year 12s submitting their course preferences via VTAC.

Top Arts exhibition

Our Year 11 Studio Art class recently visited the Top Arts exhibition at the National Gallery of Victoria. The purpose of Top Arts is to showcase the very best artwork from 2010’s VCE students from a wide range of schools. There were two halves to the excursion, each as inspiring as the other. We first got an insider’s look at the countless folios of planning and research that went into the final artworks. Some students produced up to 9-10 folios for just one project. The in-depth thoughts and ideas behind the artworks were phenomenal.

Afterwards we moved on to the actual exhibition, where we got to see the final products of all those folios. The first thing that struck me about the exhibition was how diverse it was; there was a whole range of mediums on display such as sculpture, photography, animation, costume pieces, film... the list goes on. The gallery was buzzing with students from many other schools who were, like us, admiring the work of other students our age.

Georgia, Emma and I were in awe of one particular artwork. It was a large white rectangular panel, and out of it life-sized ceramic monkeys were swinging towards us. The detail and finesse were incredible, making Georgia say “I’d never be able to do something like that,” Emma and I agreed, “Me neither.” At that moment, a teacher from another school had overheard us. She turned around and said “Ah girls, so negative! You can do anything, that’s what I always tell my students. If you truly want to do something, you will achieve it no matter what obstacles come your way.” I think the combination of her kind encouragement and the amazing artwork really made that day what it was: awesome.

Plain English Speaking Award

On Friday the 20th of May, our school hosted the regional finals of the 2011 Plain English Speaking Award. I was lucky enough to be asked to MC the event. Six students from other schools took part in the competition. First they had to present a six minute speech on a topic of their own choice. Two of the topics were ‘Geeks & Bullying’ and ‘That Australia needs a Bill of Rights’. They were all very diverse. The students were then asked to prepare a three minute impromptu speech on the topic ‘A Time to Shine’. With only four minutes preparation the competitors presented well-structured and very interesting speeches. After long deliberation by the adjudicators, a winner and a runner-up were announced. As a debater, it was a great chance for me to observe and learn new public speaking and speech preparing techniques. Thanks to the other debaters who helped out on the day and to 8S who were a wonderful and polite audience.

Alexandra Brown, Debating Captain.

Year 8 Kendo Excursion

Last week a small group of year 8 students from the Kendo Specialist subject were invited to demonstrate and instruct in front of students from Sandringham East Primary School. The occasion was their biannual Japanese Festival Day, and we were one of the star attractions.

The day got off to an early start with everyone meeting at 8.30 to get dressed into hakama and kendogi (the uniform) and bogu (the armour). The new BSC kendo uniforms with the embroidery 気剣体一致 ("Spirit, Sword and Body as One") on the sleeve, showed that we really meant business. After a long ride in the maxi taxi, we arrived only a little bit late for the first of four demonstrations.

Each demonstration was in front of a new group of students and lasted for 45 mins. They consisted of our students introducing themselves and the art of Kendo, explaining something of the history, some basic Japanese terms, and even instructing in things like mokuso (meditation) and bowing. The primary school kids loved the armour and the amount of noise kendo creates. Each time one of our Brunswick kenshi struck his opponent with his shinai (bamboo sword) the room erupted in gasps and giggles. The Sandy East students then got to play some kendo games and even learnt to use the shinai, finishing off with the chance to hit one of our students.

At lunch we were treated to sushi rolls in the staffroom. This was appropriate since our students were working quite hard, and were most certainly teachers to their primary school counterparts.

Many thanks to Sandy East’s Japanese teacher Ms Michelle Keane for organising the day, and for asking us to demonstrate. Next time I hope we will be able to take the whole class.

Footy Almanac

About a year ago, I was offered the chance to write a weekly article on Australia’s premier soccer league, the A-League, for the footy almanac. I took it up, and wrote each and every week a wrap on that round’s A-League games. I did it because it was not only something I was interested in the A-League, but also interested in sports journalism as a possible career path. The website is: footyalmanac.com.au

Rock the Schools Tour and Delamare  What the students said .............

Getting to work with the backstage crew was awesome and really rewarding. Working with a real crew was great. I got to learn about all the equipment they use, how they use it and how they put the whole thing together. The crew were great and were always ready to answer the tonne of questions we had.

The concert was great. We had a mosh pit going at the front and I enjoyed every minute. Delamare were great, they had heaps of charisma and talent, and performed really well. They proved to be great musicians.

In the audio workshop I learned about all the things that you never see happening in a concert. The sound engineer taught us how to mix music and the importance of his job as a sound engineer. He did all this cool stuff with his voice to show us the different qualities of sound. It was great.

In the afternoon workshop, we got to talk to the stage manager, Neale, who basically explained how the music industry works. He told us about all the different jobs you can do other than performing and how no matter what your talents you can immerse yourself in music. I learned so many things and got some inspiration for some careers I hadn’t thought of in this industry. The workshop may change my life. It really inspired me.

Valentin Taburet, Year 11

The band was awesome. It was a real highlight for me. It was my first concert EVER! I absolutely loved Delamare and they rocked!

Bilal Sba El Alaoui Yr 7

I was a member of the school bump-in crew and arrived at 7.30am to help the Rock the Schools crew get all the massive equipment into the PAR. I really enjoyed it because I got to do something new and exciting. I was really lucky to be able to help set up and take part in the workshops too. The lunchtime concert was awesome. Delamare were really good and energetic – a real rock band concert. In the workshops I learned about the mixing desk and the speakers and the amps. It was really interesting because it is a lot more complicated than it seems. In the afternoon I heard about all the jobs in the music industry you don’t think about but which are vital in making someone a hit artist.

Oliver Rolfe Yr 8
It was really great meeting up with Delamare. They even came in to our VCE music class and played along with us! They also talked about how they deal with performance and we learned about some of their performance techniques.

Mitchell Wood Yr 11

I really enjoyed the experience as I had some questions that applied directly to me and it made the experience more educational. During the Delamare concert, I stayed with the sound engineer behind the mixing desk. It was great seeing the things he had to change during the songs. It was a digital mixing desk - one I haven’t had much experience with before as I’m more familiar with the analogue mixing desks. I’ve been thinking about what I’m going to do next year because I don’t want to go to uni straight away and the workshops gave me a good insight into the options.

Maize Wallin Yr 12

I enjoyed it so much because it is not everyday that a professional rock band with all that good and expensive equipment plays at our school! My special experience though, was when Matthew, the lead singer, sang ‘Firework ’ with me – a song I’m preparing for my end-of-year performance exam. He really inspired me to sing better and get closer to the microphone (something I didn’t do enough of during my practice performance exam on Monday night).

Peter Eleftherakis Yr 12

When I walked into the PAR there were so many students, colours flashing, a Wii game going on with four students playing it. The concert was awesome. We got lots of freebies. I got headphones and a glow-in-the-dark keytag. My friends were jumping like rabbits. The highlight for me though was getting autographs from the band and I received a CD of Delamare's single 'Miss Sunshine'.

Nellie Gunathilake Yr 7

Attending the workshop gave me a real insight into the sort of stuff that I had previously had no experience in. It helped me to expand my knowledge of the different areas of the music industry and the different career paths.

Jonathan Newman Yr 11

Wine and Cheese Fundraising Night

Thank you to everyone who has responded to the Wine and Cheese Fundraising Night invitation, many people have shown interest and the event is definitely going ahead, this Friday 3rd June. If you can’t make the event but would still like to order some of the wines, there are order forms attached which need to be brought in to Yvie at the front office.

*Please note that the starting time is 4.30 pm.

The funds raised by this event will be going towards the purchase of a new drum kit for our Music Department and also towards this year’s Rock Eisteddfod Production. Both of these programs are a fantastic way for our students to develop creativity, make new friends and to build strong teamwork skills which are necessary later in life. The constant support for these programs has been outstanding in past years and we’re hoping to make Friday’s Wine and Cheese Fundraiser another successful event.

We’re hoping that any family that has a child in one of these programs will really make an effort to support their child by attending on Friday, or if unable to make it, to show support by purchasing some wine from the order form attached with this email. Programs like the Rock Eisteddfod rely on support from parents and are such a positive experience for every student involved. Likewise, the Music Program has been steadily improving, with new equipment available for students and more performances being organised, such as the Big Band Sunsets Festival earlier this year.
